

There is no god worthy of worship but Allah — as many as the nights and the long ages that pass, as many as the days and the months that come and go, as many as the waves that move across the oceans.

There is no god but Allah — as many as the drops of rain that fall from the sky, as many as the leaves that grow upon the trees.

There is no god but Allah — as many as the grains of sand and blades of grass, as many as the hairs on every creature, as many as the stones scattered across the earth, as many as the flowers that bloom and the fruits that grow.

O Allah, send Your blessings and peace upon our Prophet Muhammad — as many as the breaths taken by every human being.

Our Lord, You created and perfected. You measured and decreed.

You fed us and gave us drink. You give life and You cause death.

And from every good we asked of You, our Lord — You have already given us more than we deserve.

O Allah, increase us and do not decrease us.

Honor us and do not humiliate us.

Favor us and do not place others above us.

Help us and do not allow others to overpower us.

Guide us and make guidance easy for us.

O Allah, we ask You for hearts that are content with Your decree,

for tongues that are grateful for Your blessings,
and for patience when we face trials.

We ask You for the life of the righteous,
the ranks of the martyrs,
the companionship of the prophets, and the honor of looking upon Your Noble Face — O Lord of the heavens and the earth.

O Allah, forgive us for the sins we committed in private — the ones no one saw except You.

Forgive the things You knew about us that no one else ever knew.

O Allah, forgive every sin we carry tonight.

Protect us from every direction.

Rescue us from every hardship.

Cover every flaw within us.

Provide for us from every direction and every path.

Place one veil of protection over another veil, and let what lies beneath that veil be something that pleases

You —

by Your mercy, O Most Merciful of those who show mercy.

O Allah, You are the One who every day brings about new affairs.

Protect our bodies and our words.

Overlook our mistakes and our shortcomings.

Let us live as Muslims, let us die as Muslims, and join us with the righteous — without disgrace and without regret — O Lord of all the worlds.

O Allah, if we have wronged any of Your servants — man or woman —

if we have fallen short in their rights, if we harmed them in their honor, their wealth, or their dignity,
if we spoke about them behind their backs,
if we treated them unfairly out of bias, desire, or anger,
and we never found the courage to apologize to them —

O Allah, comfort their hearts, honor us by allowing them to forgive us,

and compensate them with goodness from You, O our Lord.

Our Lord, do not hold us accountable for the ignorance of our past,

for the ugliness of our character,

or for the mistakes we made long ago.

Do not destroy us because of our sins and our shortcomings.

O Allah, carry for us the rights of our parents.

Carry for us the rights of our spouses, our children, our families, our relatives, and all the Muslims.

O Allah, make us among the most merciful people toward others.

Make our hearts soft toward Your creation.

We seek refuge in You from hardness of heart,
from bad character,
and from looking down upon people.

O Allah, place tenderness in our hearts toward our parents, our spouses, our children, our families, and all people.

O Allah, give us mercy toward those under our care.

Make us among those who show mercy to the poor,
who wipe the tears of the orphan,
who strive to help the widows and those in need.

O Allah, make serving people beloved to us.

Make helping people beloved to us.

Make reconciling hearts beloved to us.

Make us among those who dedicate their time, their energy, their wealth, and their influence to bring happiness to others and make us a means through which people's needs are fulfilled.

O Allah, do not deprive us of the love of people.

Do not deprive us of the prayers people make for us.

O Allah, make us a reason that hope returns to hearts, and that pain is lifted from people — by Your mercy, O Most Merciful.

O Allah, bless the one whose heart feels pain for the suffering of the weak and the distressed, whose chest tightens when he sees what has happened to the Muslims, whose eyes fill with tears for the oppressed and the broken, who carries the worries of widows, orphans, and the poor.

O Allah, let such a person live a life of happiness, let him die in a state of happiness, and gather him among the blessed on the Day of Judgment —

O Most Merciful, O Most Generous, O Most Gentle.

Our Lord, on this blessed night,

accept our prayers,

and accept the hopes that we raise to You.
