

Glory be to the One and Only.

Glory be to the Self-Sufficient, who needs no one.

Glory be to the One who created all creation without pillars,
counted every soul,
distributed every provision,
and never forgot a single person.

He has no partner and no child.

O Allah, send endless peace and blessings upon our Prophet Muhammad.

O Allah, allow us, our parents, and our families to feel closeness to You.

Let us live in the comfort of Your love.

Cover us with Your protection,
and guard us from every direction.

Honor us with Your generous gifts.

Protect us in our nights and our days,
in our homes and in our travels,
in our lives and at the moment of our death.

O Allah, by Your mercy that embraces everything,
have mercy on our brothers and sisters living with disabilities.
Make what You have tested them with a means of raising their ranks,

a forgiveness for their sins,
and a treasure saved for them with You on the Day they meet You.
O Allah, mend their hearts.
Bring peace to their souls.
Let them feel closeness and comfort with You, day and night.
O Allah, if their options feel limited, then You are their way forward.
If their strength feels weak, then You are their strength.
If their burdens feel heavy, then You are the One carrying them.
O Allah, strengthen the hearts of their mothers and fathers.
Open their chests with patience.
Write for them, for every moment of patience, a reward.
For every tear, a light.
And for every hardship, a deeper closeness to You.
O Allah, do not make them objects of pity in the eyes of people, but make them people of honor and dignity in Your sight.
And on the Day of Judgment, let them be among those You say to,
“Enter Paradise without reckoning,”
by Your grace and mercy, O Most Merciful.
O Ever-Living, O Sustainer,
You blessed us with sons and daughters—
allow us to enjoy their righteousness and their well-being in our lifetime and before we return to You.

O Allah, when something is placed in Your care, it is never lost.

So we place our children's faith,

their worldly lives,

and their Hereafter

in Your protection,

by Your mercy, O Most Merciful.

Our Lord, our Lord,

do not let this blessed gathering end

except that You have accepted our prayers,

answered our supplications,

shown mercy to our weakness and lack of strength,

fulfilled our needs,

eased our worries,

and freed our necks from the Fire.

We ask You by the light of Your Noble Face,

the light by which the heavens and the earth shine,

and by Your Great Name,

to accept us all in this very moment,

to be pleased with us with a pleasure that never turns to anger,

and to grant us forgiveness unlike any other.

O Allah, forgive our families,

forgive the women present,

all Muslim women and believing women.

Fill their hearts with faith and certainty.

Fill their faces with dignity, modesty, and light.

Adorn them with hijab, humility, purity, and chastity.

O Allah, help them speak words that are good and gentle.

Forgive all of their sins.

Protect them from every harm.

O Allah, heal the one who is ill.

Provide for the one who longs for a child.

Lift from them every worry, every grief, every hardship, and every pain.

O Allah, make them among the best of women in character,
the most beautiful in speech,
the most righteous in their families.

And grant those who are unmarried among them
a righteous, kind, and compatible spouse,
by Your mercy, O Most Merciful of those who show mercy.