Glory be to Allah. All praise belongs to Allah. There is no god but Allah. Allah is the Greatest. And there is no power and no strength except through Allah.

O Allah… You whose remembrance is an honor for those who remember You.

You whose gratitude is success for those who give thanks.

You whose praise is dignity for those who praise You.

You whose obedience is salvation for those who obey You.

You whose door is always open for those who seek You.

You whose path is clear for those who turn back to You.

You whose signs are proof for those who reflect.

You whose Book is a reminder for the people of taqwa.

You whose provision reaches both the obedient and the sinner.

You whose mercy is always near to those who do good.

Our Lord… You who created Your Prophet ‘Isa without a father.

You who gave victory to Your Prophet Musa over the one who said, “I am your lord.”

You who brought Your Prophet Yunus out of the darkness.

You who rescued Yusuf from the depths of the well.

And You who loved our Prophet Muhammad ﷺ with a love beyond all love.

Our Lord… grant freedom from the Fire for us and for those we love.

Give us goodness beyond what we hope for and beyond what we even dare to ask for.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

Our Lord… the stars have faded and the eyes have grown quiet in the night, yet You are the Ever-Living, the Sustainer.

Neither drowsiness nor sleep ever touches You.

Our Lord… there is no tranquility except through You.

No generosity except from You.

No safety except with You.

And no true happiness except in closeness to You.

Glory be to You… glory be to You.

Forgiveness is more beloved to You than punishment.

Mercy is more beloved to You than holding people accountable.

O Allah… our good deeds are from Your gifts, and our sins happen by Your decree.

So let what You have given us erase what You have decreed for us.

You are too majestic to be obeyed except by Your permission, and too knowing for disobedience to happen except with Your knowledge.

O Allah… You are the Most Forgiving, and You love to forgive, so forgive us.

O Allah… You are the Most Forgiving, and You love to forgive, so forgive us.

Our Lord… treat us with Your kindness.

Treat us with Your generosity and Your grace.

Surround us with Your mercy and Your forgiveness.

Do not deprive us because of our sins.

Do not push us away because of our faults.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

O You who answer prayers.

O You who forgive slips and mistakes.

Your servants — men and women — have come to You from every direction.

They seek only Your Face and Your pleasure.

They seek no one but You.

Our Lord… You said:

“O My servants, if the first of you and the last of you, the humans among you and the jinn among you, all stood together in one place and asked Me — and I gave every one of them what they asked for — that would not decrease My kingdom in the slightest."

O Allah… our greatest request and the deepest hope in our hearts is that You free our necks from the Fire.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

O Allah… do not make us fuel for the Fire.

Do not make it our home.

Do not make it our resting place.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

O Allah… even the noble and generous leaders among Your servants, when someone seeks protection from them, they grant it.

And You are the Lord of all who are noble and generous.

So O Allah, grant us protection from the Fire.

Our Lord… we seek refuge in You from a moment when others are freed while we remain in chains.

Far above Your noble mercy would it be for You to turn us away.

We seek refuge in You from being distanced after You brought us close.

We seek refuge in You from being hated after You loved us.

We seek refuge in You from humiliation after You honored us.

Our Lord… You before whom every nose is humbled and every neck bows down.

You who know everything about us.

Nothing about us is hidden from You.

And You have power over all things.

O Allah… honor us with Your forgiveness morning and evening.

Give every one of us what we are asking for.

Fulfill the needs of every one of us.

Restore joy and happiness to every heart among us.

Our Lord… there are only a few of these blessed nights left.

So bless them for us.

Give us the best of what they contain.

Make them among the happiest nights of our lives.

And grant us everything we are hoping for in them.

Our Lord… O All-Knowing, O Knower of everything.

O Possessor of Majesty and Honor.

We entrust to You the most beautiful nights and days of our lives.

Our Lord… who among us is accepted so we may congratulate them?

And who among us is turned away so we may console them?

O Allah… do not make anyone among us miserable, deprived, or rejected.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

O Allah… after this fasting, grant us more fasting.

After this standing in prayer, grant us more standing in prayer.

After these supplications, grant us more supplication.

Join for us between well-being and long life.

Between guidance and lasting protection.

Allow Ramadan to return to us for many years and long times — while we and all Muslims remain in health, well-being, and a life filled with goodness.

O Allah… do not make this our last Ramadan.

Do not make this our last standing in prayer.

Do not make these our last days.

Our Lord… our hearts feel sadness, and our eyes shed tears.

We are truly saddened by the departure of Ramadan.

O Allah… keep us firm upon obedience and faith in Ramadan and after Ramadan.

Grant us a beautiful ending in taqwa and excellence.

Write for us Your pleasure and Your acceptance.

Include us in the prayers of Your righteous servants.

O Most Merciful, O Most Compassionate.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

O Most Praiseworthy, O Most Glorious.

O Most Praiseworthy, O Most Glorious.

Honor us with even more from Your generosity.

O Allah… if You allow us to stand in prayer tomorrow night again, then to You belongs endless and everlasting praise.

O Allah… make our ending a beautiful ending like the fragrance of musk.

Return us to our homes as pure as the day our mothers gave birth to us — free from small sins and great sins, free from grudges and hatred.

O Allah… purify what is inside us and what is outside us.

O Allah… our Prophet forgave and pardoned people.

And You are the Lord of our Prophet.

So forgive us.

Free us.

Erase what has passed.

Bring back those who have turned away.

And make us among those who win Your forgiveness and arrive before others.

Our Lord… we have heard that forgiveness is one of the greatest gifts.

So we ask You for forgiveness — and along with forgiveness we ask You for well-being.

We ask You for every good that Your knowledge encompasses.

And we seek refuge in You from every evil that Your knowledge encompasses.

O Allah… have mercy on us tonight through the tears of those who are crying, and through the broken hearts of those who humble themselves before You.

Make us among those who are sincere and truthful in everything we do.

Make us among those who were sincere when they called upon You — so You answered them.

Give our hopes value and honor in Your sight.

Keep us firm upon this religion and upon the straight path.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

O Allah… at the end of this supplication we ask You for special gentleness for us, our parents, and our families.

Complete protection for us, our parents, and our families.

Perfect well-being for us, our parents, and our families.

And a lasting freedom from sins and disobedience.

O Most Merciful, O Most Compassionate.

O Allah… return us to our homes safe, victorious, accepted, forgiven — happy with the freedom You granted us.

Return us to our homes as pure as the day our mothers gave birth to us — without sins, without grudges, without hatred.

And make what is inside us and outside us righteous.

O Allah… we ask You regarding every servant of Yours whom we may have wronged — in their honor, their wealth, or their dignity.

If we spoke badly about them, if we hurt them, if we wronged them because of bias, desire, or anger — and we failed to apologize to them.

O Allah… comfort their hearts.

Honor us by allowing them to forgive us.

And compensate them from Your generosity with goodness.

Our Lord… do not take us to account for our past ignorance, our bad manners, and our previous mistakes.

Do not destroy us because of our sins and shortcomings.

O Allah… take care of the rights of our parents on our behalf.

Take care of the rights of our spouses, our children, our families, our relatives, and all the Muslims.

O Allah… make us among the most merciful people toward others.

Make us among the gentlest of creation toward creation.

We seek refuge in You from hard hearts, bad character, and looking down on people.

O Allah… grant us tenderness toward our parents, our spouses, our children, our families, and all people.

Grant us mercy toward those under our care.

Make us among those who show mercy to the poor, who wipe the tears of the orphan, and who strive to fulfill the needs of widows and those in hardship.

Make us love helping people.

Make us love serving people.

Make us love bringing hearts back together.

Make us among those who dedicate their time, their effort, their wealth, and their status to bringing happiness to others.

Allow the needs of people to be fulfilled through our hands.

O Allah… do not deprive us of the love of people.

Do not deprive us of the prayers of people.

Make us a cause for hope returning to hearts and pain being lifted.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

O Allah… whoever cared for the weak, whoever felt pain for those suffering, whoever’s chest tightened because of the hardships of Muslims — whoever cried for the oppressed, the broken, the widows, the orphans, and the poor —

O Allah… let them live a happy life.

Let them die a happy death.

And gather them among the blessed.

O Most Merciful of the merciful.

Our Lord… we are sinners.

We make mistakes.

We have wronged ourselves.

But we know we have a Lord who forgives sins, accepts repentance, washes away mistakes, and covers faults.

Our Lord… we ask You by the places of honor of Your Throne, by the ultimate mercy in Your Book, by Your Greatest Name, and by Your Noble Face — to free all of us from the Fire.

O Allah forgive the sins between us and You.

Forgive the sins that You know about but people do not know.

Forgive betrayals and open sins, O Creator of the heavens and the earth.

How generous You are, our Lord.

How close You are, our Lord.

How merciful You are, our Lord.

There is no god but You.

And we have no Lord besides You.

O Allah… bless, support, and grant well-being to everyone who gave their time, effort, and energy to serve this blessed masjid and its visitors — everyone who prayed in it, everyone who organized, managed, worked, and served, men and women alike — and everyone who says Ameen.

By Your mercy, O Most Merciful of the merciful.

Our Lord… before this gathering ends and before these people return home, we ask You for those who did good, those who gave, those who served, those who contributed — never make them miserable, never disgrace them, never punish them.

Grant them health always.

Protect them from harm.

Replace what they gave with something even better.

And grant them tonight the most precious gifts and blessings.

O Allah… include in these rewards those who were busy serving us instead of standing here with us.

Give them what You give us.

And include in this supplication those who wished to be here tonight but were prevented by illness, work, or travel.

Do not deprive them of the reward.

Grant them mercy and blessings equal to ours — and even more.

O Allah... forgive us tonight.

Have mercy on the Muslims.

Ease the worries of the Muslims.

Heal the sick among the Muslims.

Protect the lands and sacred places of the Muslims.

Have mercy on the deceased among the Muslims.

Unite the hearts of the Muslims.

Honor Islam and the Muslims.
